Glancing Over World Events

Commenting on the result of the British elections a writer in the Century refers to the poor showing made by women candidates. There were many of them, but most of them were given nominations in constituencies where they had little chance of success. There, as in Canada, women as well as men prefer to vote for male candidates. After fifteen years of woman suffrage, we have now two female members of the Commons of Canada, an increase of the hundred per cent. over the previous record, besides two female members of the Senate. Outside of that, we cannot definitely state what effect woman suffrage has had, except that it has increased the cost of elections and the expenses of candidates. We have given women the chance to vote; we have not given them much chance to be voted for.

We have often wondered why political leaders feel it necessary to defend their every action. They apparently thought it damaging to their prestige to admit a mistake. We were under the impression that a candid admission of an error in judgment would have a rather good effect. At long last it has been tested and the result is advantageous: Stanley Baldwin admitted his foreign secretary had made a mistake and the government had made a mistake in standing by their colleague. The result was that a motion of want of confidence was voted down by a huge majority whereas he would have had a rough ride if he had attempted to prove he was right.

The Foreign Secretary did argue that he was right, but he had resigned in the meantime because of the volume of opposition against him in the government, the United Kingdom and the sanctionist countries. He made out a good case. He was obsessed with the danger of imposing oil sanctions which Italy would regard as a declaration of war. Not one country except Britain had moved a man, a machine or a ship to meet this threat and he feared, not without reason, that Britain alone would have to stand the shock. Other countries might applaud but only from France had any assurance of military help been received and that assurance was halting, reluctant and therefore uncertain.

The judgment of many continental newspapers is that British prestige has been lowered, but the ultimate result will be advantageous. The other sanctionist countries must now place their cards on the table. They have to declare what fight they are prepared to put up should fight ensue. Mr. Baldwin gave them a direct hint that Britain is not going to be left holding the bag. He even intimated that unless collective action is forthcoming, Britain may be the next country to leave the League of Nations to its own devices. Since then several Mediterranean nations have signed on the dotted line.

Italy does not properly appreciate what has happened. She appears to think she has scored because the Hoare-Laval offer shook two governments and dislodged a Foreign Secretary. Next day the schools showed

VERY COLD WEATHER

During the week-end the Vulcan district experienced some very cold weather, the mercury dropping as low as 26 degrees below zero early Monday morning. The cold spell was accompanied with snow flurries and high winds. Roads drifted badly and the snow packed hard making most roads impassable to motor traffic. The main gravelled highway drifted in from the twelve mile corner west due north of Brant. Bus service was suspended. Early Tuesday morning a trail was broken on this north section of road by snow plough. A narrow lane for traffic has thus been made available to motorists. Motorists say that if this section of highway drifts in again it will be impossible to clear until the spring thaw.

Vulcan Elk Puck Chasers Leading Foothills League

Win Over High River Fliers and Staveloy Place Local Pucksters in First Loop Position With 13 Points

By defeating the High River Fliers 4-3 in a holiday attraction New Year's day the Vulcan Elks' hockey team jumped into first position in the Foothills league race. This position the team maintained by turning in a 5-4 score against the Staveloy team on Monday evening. Both were home games. On Tuesday the standing of the eight teams in the loop were listed as follows:

	P	W	L	D	F	A	P

High River 3—Vulcan 4

Before the largest gallery of this season, over 400 persons, the Vulcan Elks' pucksters went into first position in the league by gaining a thrilling victory over the High River Fliers in a holiday contest played in the arena during the afternoon of New Year's day. The Fliers scored three tallies in succession in the opening stanza and the local fans were given the thrill of a lifetime when the Elks came from behind to win by sagging the net four times. The locals seemed disorganized in the first frame and played at a snail's pace. McLeod opened the scoring for the Fliers on a pass from Pollard after four minutes of the game had passed. One minute later Pollard scored unassisted and at the fifteen minute mark Overand took a neat pass from Murray's stick to mark the board three times for the visitors.

Gourlay started the scoring spree that brought the Elks out of the red. He scored in an uncompleted play before the face off in the middle frame. It was recorded as being scored at 19:58 in the first period.

After loafing through the first frame the Elks looked like a different team in this period. They put on the pressure and netted three more goals to overcome the Fliers' early lead. Harper scored on a pass from McRae at 5:30, Bastin from S. Thomas at 13:01, and McRae from Gourlay at 17:46 completed the scoring of the game.

In the final stanza High River put on the pressure, but Mainland, who played a wonderful game in the last two periods, was unbeatable. Ice conditions in the third made puck carrying difficult. The ice softened much before the game ended.

Only three penalties were handed out during the game, all to Vulcan men and one in each period. Bastin, Harper and Laroché each cooled their heels in the box for two minutes.

High River—Thompson; Tigner, Overand, A. Malmberg; Marshall, Murray, Pollard, McLeod, D. Malmberg, Hyslop.

Vulcan—Mainland; Laroché, Harper, D. Thomas; McCartney, Gourlay, McRae, Bastin, S. Thomas, Shannon.

Referees—McCorquodale, High River; Deman, Vulcan.

Staveloy—Vulcan 5

In a puck chasing contest that lagged for the fans the Vulcan Elks maintained their lead in the eight-team Foothills loop on Monday evening by defeating Staveloy 5-4. It was a slow contest to watch, the Elks seemed to be disorganized and the Staveloy boys were playing at their best. The locals hit a good stride in the opening opus by chalking up twice. They scored first in the middle frame to lead 3-0. Staveloy opened their scoring near the end of this period when Flanagan caught Mainland out of the net in a scramble in Vulcan territory. It was an easy one and went bobbing into the hem with no man between the posts. In the last second of the period Flanagan again scored to make it 3-2 for the locals at the start of the final stanza.

The last period brought forth the best efforts from the Elks, who displayed little of the form that pre-

A RACE INVOLVING POUNDAGE

(Contributed)
A thing that brought the hockey fans to their feet at Monday night's game was a race between two gentlemen of town that involved many pounds weight. In fact if the total weight of these two gentlemen was known it would read something like 391 pounds net. Although the weight was tremendous the ice held up under the strain and the race was staged as scheduled, between the first and second periods of the puck chasing game. It seemed that, in their weaker moments, an argument came about as to which of these persons could round the ice in the fastest time. And before long a wager was made. It is rumored in circles of gossip that this wager involved material of liquid nature, bottled in bond. Perhaps the gossip is wrong. Anyway the race was run and a winner declared and thereby the loser forfeits the wager. It is understood that the winner is connected with the hotel business and that the loser is connected with the newspaper trade.

VULCAN ELKS PLAY EXHIBITION GAMES

Yesterday the Vulcan Elks' hockey team played the Gleichen Gunners in an exhibition tilt at the local arena. This was the first game in a series of exhibitions arranged by the management. On Friday the Elks will journey to Gleichen for a return contest. On Monday, January 20th, they will play the Strathmore pucksters at Strathmore. A return game on local ice with that team has been arranged for January 22nd.

Foothills Loop Games

Next week the Elks' will play two home games in the Foothills league schedule. The Calgary Hornets play here on Monday and the Turner Valley-Okotoks aggregation play here on Wednesday. On Saturday of next week the locals will go to Okotoks to contest the Calgary Hornets for the fourth time.

Long School Holiday Ends

Children are again plunged into a long stretch of study, and can look back to one of the best Christmas holiday seasons in many years, and also to one of the most extended. The full two weeks of fine weather gave opportunity for plenty of outdoor exercise, and the skating rink resounded to action both day times and evenings.

General health was good, and altogether the school studies should go forward with vigor, as a result of the beneficial period of rest and recreation.

vailed during the New Year's day game. Twice the score was tied. It was 3 all when McInnes tallied for the visitors. McRae took a nice pass from Harper to get a one point lead but Sparrow tied the game up again in a solo effort. McCartney sagged the net to gain the winning goal for the locals. He took the pass from McRae.

It was a fortunate win for Vulcan for the boys were off form and Staveloy players were at their best.

Staveloy—Yorgason, Beatty, Sparrow, McInnes, Hughes, Willis, Flanagan, R. Doyle, Bouzyan, Derohg.

Vulcan—Mainland, aroche, Harper, D. Thomas, McRae, S. Thomas, McCartney, Shannon, Bastin and Thompson.

Referee: L. Doyle, Staveloy; judge of play, Ed. Deman, Vulcan.

Goal Summary

Town of Vulcan

Closes Financial Year With

$12,000 Surplus

It was revealed at the council meeting on Monday evening that the Town of Vulcan completed the financial year ending December 31st, 1935 with a surplus of $12,403.96 in the bank. This was shown on the financial statement for the month of December presented to the Councillors by A. J. Flood, secretary-treasurer. The statement showed that the receipts for the month of December totalled $8,419.39. Of this amount $1,907.59 was collected from municipal taxes, $123.68 from business taxes, $3,645.66 from hospital taxes, and $2,096.70 from tax consolidations. Minimum taxes brought in $44.00. Revenue from licenses, cemetery, cesspools, rink, and rents made the balance of receipts.

Payments for the month totalled $4,061.28. Of this total sum the largest payment was that of the Vulcan school requisition, $1,000.00. Other payments listed included legal expenditure $497.95, rink $442.41, commission on collections $241.29. Direct relief cost the town $241.80 for routine miscellaneous expenditures made the total.

It is gratifying that the town has weathered the year 1935 in a very satisfactory financial manner. Mayor King, the councillors and taxpayers are to be congratulated. The Mayor and councillors for their successful administration and the citizens for their response to the payment of taxes.

Harmony Disapproves Municipal Dep't Action

Routine Business Dealt With at Monthly Session Council Municipal District of Harmony

The secretary and Reeve were authorized to pay Nurse Ray the sum of $10.00, being the balance of Davis account. Carried.

The secretary read communications from the Department of Municipal Affairs re 1933 and 1934 Tax Consolidation Agreements. This caused considerable comment from all the councillors, and the secretary was instructed to draft up a letter and voice disapproval of the action taken, also to ask for a definite ruling as to how the council stands on this subject in respect to Mortgage Companies and Banks who have taken authority to curtail payments on agreements. Councillor Hopkins moved this as a motion. Carried unanimously.

Pretty Girls and Busy Men Play Draw Game Hockey

Vulcan Girls Wield Mighty Fast Hockey Sticks and Complain of Rough Treatment at Hands of Business Men

As an interlude to the seriousness of the present hockey season, two town teams played to a draw on Friday evening last to give a gallery of about 150 fans many laughs along with a good number of hockey thrills of questionable variety. The two teams to battle, and by battle we mean fight, were the High School girls team, billed as the Pretty High School Girls, and a team of local men heralded as the Busy Business Men. By the brand hockey played the men's aggregation should be rightly called the Tired Business Men. Anyway they were plenty tired following the contest Friday.

Amid slashing and waving sticks in the girls hands the men took an early lead in the first period by scoring three. The pretty girls opened their scoring by an error on the men's part. Fred Anderson, dazzled by the bright lights (and pretty girls) skated down the ice the wrong way and scored in the wrong net. In another scrimmage in front of the men's net resulted in another tally for the girl when W. Ransom shoved the puck in by mistake. The period ended 3-2 for the men.

The fans were for the girls and booed the men on the least error on their part. Referee McKee seemed to favor the girls (for some unknown reason) and handed out penalties freely to the male sex. It seemed that if a gentleman looked at a fair head too often it called for a term in the cooler. Highlights of the game included the fact that Dr. Nicol had for getting in and scoring for the men and the excellent net minding by Evelyn Peterson. The men were in the lead at the end of the second frame.

Early in final frame Referee McKee was mobbed by the men who thought they were receiving unfair treatment in his hands. The girls complained of rough treatment, but many of the fans say that it should have been the men. However, this was a technical point that needs no comment here. The men had the game "on ice" but defeated themselves by continually scoring in the wrong net. It was amazing how they could mistake the girls' net. Of course the girls scored occasionally and after the bodies were cleared from the ice after the final bell the score was tied 7-7. The casualty report immediately following the game showed the girls had the worst of the battle. The net minder had a "black" eye and Miss Jenni John, playing defense, had a nasty cut that required stitches. But the girls had the laugh the morning after when men came to work limping and it is rumored that several did not put in an appearance at their places of business due to shortage of crutches in town.

During the last few minutes of the game the girls sneaked 16 players on the ice and the men played ten down in an effort to break the tie. It could be rightly termed a battle royal.

Pretty High School Girls—Evelyn Peterson; Eleanor Jenni John, K. Arney E. Hill, Mrs. Murray; M. Clark, M. Ulrich, L. Ulrich, J. McQueen, R. Thompson, R. Peterson, V. Brown, G. Anderson, L. Parsons.

Busy Business Men—Dyce Allan; E. King, F. M. Anderson, P. B. Discher; Bill Recor, Wayne Ransom, T. Thompson, D. Symington, T. Black, Dr. D. Nicol.

REV. A. H. ROWE WILL SPEAK IN VULCAN

The pulpit of the United church will be occupied, at both morning and evening services, on Sunday, January 12th, by Rev. A. H. Rowe of High River. The junior choir will provide special music for the morning service and the senior choir will be in attendance in the evening.

TOWN FATHERS MEET FOR MONTHLY COUNCIL SESSION

The regular meeting of the Council of the Town of Vulcan was held on Monday evening with Mayor King presiding and Councillors Dobbs, Arney, Ulrich present.

R. W. McFarlane interviewed the council on behalf of the hockey club with regards a donation to assist in the financing of the team. The matter was deferred until the end of the season.

The council decided to advertise a tax sale of all properties where no effort had been made for settlement of arrears.

It was decided to place $500 insurance on the Daines' house.

A. J. Flood was selected as returning officer for the coming town elections to be held the first Monday in February.

The financial statement was presented to the councillors for the month ending December 31st, 1935. The statement revealed the finances of the town in excellent condition with a balance of over $12,000 at the end of the year.

Hospital Patients Enjoy Christmas Day

Christmas was a happy time for the patients in the Vulcan municipal hospital. The staff made every effort to make the day a most pleasant one and delightfully succeeded according to the patients. Dinner was served with all the trimmings and relatives of those in the hospital were invited, making the meal such as one the patients would have at their homes with husbands and wives. The radio, which was donated for use in the hospital through contributions of people in the district during the past year, added to the festivities, the patients "listening-in" on the Canadian Radio Commission broadcast in the afternoon and that of His Majesty the King during the morning.

The following donations at Christmas time were gratefully received: turkey; Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Smith; goose, D. J. Ross; ham, W. D. Allan; candy, Red and White store, D. C. Jones, E. King, Mr. Montgomery, L. Snodgrass; cake, P. Grunlund; hamper, Calgary Women's League. The staff and board wish to thank all donors for their generosity. Through the kind donation of $40.00 from the Elks Lodge, Miss McLeod reports the addition of two nice chairs for use by convalescent patients to the furnishings of the hospital.

THE SPIRIT OF NEW YEAR

Canada at large has been shocked by a news item coming from staid old Ontario. This tells of a beer party staged in a church in a small Ontario town on New Year's Eve. During the "party" the pulpit was smashed, the Bible torn to bits, while carpets and pews were splashed with beer.

This is a desecration which revolts almost everyone, regardless of religious conviction or any well developed sense of the decencies. It is almost incredible that it could happen in a Canadian community. And yet it may be only one step ahead of what seems to be a very general trend toward excess. It cannot be ignored that New Year celebrations throughout Canada today, go to extremes which would not be countenanced a few years ago, and which are involving an increasing proportion of people, young and old. Is the eagerness to avoid prudishness, only resulting in the violation of certain well established rules of good taste and self-respecting behaviour? Self-control does not appear to rank as highly in public esteem as it did. There is something awesome about the entrance of a New Year. It comes to us fresh and untouched, ours to make or mar. It may be made beautiful and memorable or it may be made harmful and unworthy. It may lead up or it may lead down. And the spirit in which its arrival is greeted, seems to place a seal upon it, to indicate the aspirations for the future and to set the pace.

It seems sad that many who most feverishly seek the spirit of the new year, seem to miss that rich and eager spirit utterly.

There is a principle of moderation in all things, which the world seems somehow to have missed along the troubled paths of recent years. There is an ideal of self control which once realized, is an armor for old and young against the myriad temptations that beset us. There are the ideals of dignity, discrimination, thoughtfulness for others, which must be restored. Otherwise such incidents as occurred in old Ontario this New Year's Eve, will become increasingly possible. And then there will follow a swing to the other extreme of the pendulum. And that is not a condition that offers a real solution. Opposed to excess is moderation and self-control.

AGAIN ALBERTA

Alberta, as a province, seems fated for the headlines, and if it isn't one thing it's another. The latest comment on the province is not particularly flattering, and, relatively speaking, is probably unjust.

Dean Russell of Columbia University has picked out Alberta as a horrible example of unsound thinking and action. He is quoted as saying, "If there is any place on the American continent where the old conservative educational ideals hold full sway, it is the province of Alberta. There they are innocent of modern educational methods. They are guiltless of progressive education. They centre their attention upon reading, writing and arithmetic. Nevertheless the citizens of Alberta voted to pay themselves $25.00 a month."

It is very likely that poor youthful Alberta was dragged into this condemnation only incidentally. The point which Dean Russell was apparently bearing down upon, was that young people were not sufficiently instructed in the principles of political economy in the schools. Hence they fall victims to inexperienced, faulty thinking. He says that in the past, dividends, bonuses, doles, etc., have been a prelude to decline and fall, and he fears that United States through ignorance of political economics, may follow the path blazed by Alberta. He attacks those who are critical of modern education in its attempt to meet practical life with practical preparation and knowledge.

It is quite probable that the Dean of Columbia University knew, absolutely nothing about the educational standards or institutions of Alberta. But he evidently had heard about the monthly dividends, and, disapproving of these, he drew on his imagination for what he considered to be a suitable breeding ground for such theories. Probably he did not suppose that Albertans were sufficiently in touch to read "Time," and other periodicals and the daily press, which featured his condemnation.

Dr. Wallace, president of Alberta University, has made his usual unflinching comment: "My impression of high school teachers in Alberta, is that they are a well trained group of men and women, holding high standards. I have not had occasion to feel that in Alberta we are behind any of the other provinces in respect to educational methods and standards."

Although Dean Russell's criticism, as applying specifically to Alberta, seems very unfair, yet many share with him in the conviction that educational methods, generally are not equipping young people as adequately as they might, for the sound, well balanced judgments required in the changing modern world. In other provinces and other States, quite as much as in Alberta, education must prepare students to face this new world of overnight developments.

THE MELTING POT

A number of Eastern papers, commenting recently on the make-up of the Winnipeg football championship team, inquire anxiously "how about the supremacy of the bulldog breed." The powerful Winnipeg line included such names as Marquardt, Peschel, Ceretti, Adelman, Kushner, etc.

Although some doubts seem to exist as to these players being authentic Western Canadians, they might easily be, so far as their names are concerned. And it is equally believable that they might figure on a championship rugby team, or in any other branch of achievement.

The fact is that Western Canada experience does not encourage a belief in the supremacy of any one breed of human beings. The records of our secondary schools and universities, of our sports and business, are evidence that our many nationalities in the West, all produce people of ability, and that no one race or tribe may wisely claim conspicuous superiority. The delusion, so prevalent amongst nationalistic peoples, that the mere fact of birth and breeding within one particular area of the world is a guarantee in itself of quality or ability, is apt to suffer many a shock in the Canadian West.

In the melting pot of this country, it is appreciated that our new Canadians from many lands have all brought with them qualities and talents of value. They contribute in many instances colorful gifts with which the native born Canadian is not outstandingly endowed. It is hoped and believed that they in turn are influenced by certain substantial law-abiding qualities usually evident in native stock. As generations come on, the old prejudices and cleavages as between nations, are steadily disappearing, and in every school ground of the West, there is a natural unconscious mingling of half a dozen nationalities, all adapting themselves to Canadian customs.

Canada is often said to be the least nationally minded country in the world. At times this has been considered a grave weakness, traceable to a number of very good reasons. But other parts of the world do not seem to have achieved any greater orderliness of living through their blind aggressive nationalism. And there are indications that certain leaders are very much alive to the danger of fostering ideals of racial supremacy. In the days that are to come, there may develop greater world acceptance of the qualities, virtues and talents of other peoples. And in such an event, Western Canadians are already well on the way.

GOODWILL DESPITE MUCH PROVOCATION

One of the instances of the spirit of goodwill so manifest amongst individuals, if not amongst nations, at this season of the year, was told recently. A police officer in Southern Alberta was required to serve a warrant on a man accused of a game infraction. The offense was not of a serious nature, and the officer would gladly have deferred his unpleasant duty, but the law is a stern task master, and it was required that he serve the warrant the day before Christmas. He appeared reluctantly at the home, creating no little surprise and consternation.

However, the head of the house, though feeling that the law was over zealous, if not absolutely unjust, restrained himself. "This is no time for hard feelings and ill temper," he said to the officer. "I know that you have disliked this business, particularly at such a time, and as a sign that there is goodwill between us, I ask you to accept a little drink from me."

It was a gracious gesture in an unpleasant situation, carrying in its own way something of the true spirit of Christmas. The police officer left the place and it would not be very surprising if he agreed for once that "the law is an ass" and also a bungler.

Sixteen million ducks crossed Canada in 1935, according to a duck census taken by an American survey.

James F. Burns, nephew of Senator Pat Burns, died in Calgary on Tuesday.

W. Irvine ex-M.P. contested the seat at Carlyle, Sask., against Premier Gardiner unsuccessfully.

ALBERTA NEEDS FISH HATCHERIES

R. T. Rodd Tells National Conference That Expansion Will be Necessary Soon

R. T. Rodd, Alberta director of Fisheries attended the National Conference of freshwater fish culture held recently in Ottawa. Acknowledging the present satisfactory arrangement for hatching fry in the national park hatcheries, he foresaw the time when provincial hatcheries would be needed to meet demand.

The main difficulties of the moment in Alberta were stream pollution and the removal of predatory fish from the trout streams. Good co-operation has been given in keeping sport streams clean, but pike, suckers and ling take their toll from foothill trout streams.

The whole question of game fishing and commercial fishing as affecting the provinces was discussed. Fishing regulations to prevent depletion, were suggested. In Alberta at least success has been experienced in restocking different water with suitable type of fish. Vigorous steps in protection of tributary streams have replenished stock in the main river.

The town of Hanna enters the year 1936 with a credit bank balance of $5,200.00.

Policing of Alberta will cost $225,000 in 1936. The R.C.M.P. contract has been renewed.

The Dionne quintuplets have increased Ontario tourist trade by 95,000 autos.

Alberta coal producers reported an output of 657,828 tons in October, or 12 per cent above the tonnage produced a year ago.

CATTLE SHIPPING STARTS NEW YEAR

The first cattle shipment for 1936, to the new U.S. market went out from Calgary January 1. Seven hundred and twenty-six cattle were shipped under the new reciprocity arrangement, and are the start of what should prove profitable business.

Heavy purchases of pure-bred stock by U.S. buyers have been made in Alberta recently.

During the past week a shipment of 100 purebred Hereford bulls, one of the largest to be made from southern Alberta in several years, was made to United States breeders, while on Wednesday three carloads of draft horses were shipped from the Calgary yards to Stockton, California.

Dorsey McDaniel, who with his brother operated under the firm name of McDaniel Brothers many years ago was reported to be acting for United States breeders making the purchases.

Wop May has been appointed superintendent of Mackenzie River Airways, succeeding Punch Dickens.

Hon. C. A. Dunning who is to represent a P.E.I. riding, will not be opposed.

Lethbridge is boasting of the collection of 98 per cent. of the 1935 tax impost, and possibly more.

F. W. Turnbull defeated Conservative member for Regina and E. E. Perley, prominent Conservative of Saskatchewan, are opposing the Gardiner election and supporting Wm. Irvine.

STOCKYARDS
ACTIVE IN 1935Movement of Stockers from Calgary
Yards Greater Than Previous Year

Receipts of livestock on sale and through billing at the Calgary stockyards during 1935, consisted of 59,625 cattle, 15,239 calves, 84,090 hogs, 13,304 sheep on sale and 25,047 cattle, 92 calves, 58,558 hogs, 61,713 sheep on through billing.

As usual the first half of the year brought forth the bulk of feed lot cattle well up in the finish while the second half of the year brought to market cattle which lack sufficient finish to make the good to choice qualification. During the last two months of the year this was outstanding due to severe and unseasonable climatic conditions.

The volume of calves exceeded last year, with the bulk sold for immediate slaughter.

The number of hogs marketed through the yards was less than in 1934 but the number in the two top grades was materially increased. Demand for improved breeding stock through the brood sow policy continued to reflect a live interest in the part of the producer for better hogs.

Sheep and lamb marketings were below the number for last year but the general quality was good.

The cattle market improved steadily during the first of the year gaining 50 cents to $1 over the close of 1934. These prices were maintained during the first half of February when the United States market reached a point where Canadian beef cattle could pay the duty and return something over the current Canadian prices. By June prices had taken a dip despite light offering but prices for the first six months were much higher than the previous year. Trade during the latter months of the year was featured by the scarcity of well finished cattle but in December prices advanced on all good grades of cattle.

Sales of cattle in the local yards totalled $1,774,599.75 for 59,625 head. Calves brought returns of $170,100.84 for 15,239 head and hogs $1,285,390.86 for 84,090 head. Lambs and sheep totalled 13,304 head for returns of $58,195.90.

Horses sold and handled through the local yards totalled 4,437 head for a total price of $310,590.00.

PROPOSED PLAN
OF SCHOOL GROUPSRural Areas of Alberta May be Divided into 45 School Districts

Members of legislature have been furnished with a proposed plan of Premier William Abernethy to reduce costs and add to efficiency of rural schools. This plan will be discussed at the next session.

The plan involves the grouping of rural schools into 43 or 45 divisions, or larger units, which would be administered by divisional boards of five directors, elected by the ratepayers.

Under this scheme the 3225 rural school districts in this province, which have "local" boards would not be disestablished. But the ratepayers, instead of electing these "local" boards for the future, would name advisory committees.

These committees would act as trustees of school property, arrange for extra services beyond the minimum provided by the divisional board and other duties.

The divisional board would have charge of operating and closing of schools, engaging and placing of teachers, and requisitioning of municipal council for funds, just as city school boards do at present.

Permanent Adviser

In each division, there would be a permanent adviser to the board, known either as a superintendent of schools or inspector.

As there are 27 inspectors in the province now, the only possible occasion for increased cost would be increasing the number to 43 or 45, according to the plan. The cost of the superintendents or inspectors would be borne by the provincial government.

General Taxing Areas

Each division would be a general taxing area, the levy being made upon the equalized assessment ordinarily used by the municipal authorities.

Provision would be made to safeguard the interests of all minorities in such matters as separate schools, religious instruction and the primary course in French.

The savings include salaries of secretary-treasurers in over 300 school districts in this province, annual expense of making an audit in each district, and cost of building up a library in each school of an area, and on costs of obtaining school supplies.

Arrears of teachers' salaries, amounting to $518,140 for the province at the end of 1934, was scarcely conceivable under a larger administrative unit plan, it is claimed.

Will of the People

When it is considered that, alone among the nations of the world, government in Britain is still by consent of the people, it is of stupendous import that the warning of a free people, through an uncensored Press has reverted the government from compromise to firm resolve. If the futile cruelty of Italy's war against Ethiopia can be checked, it will not be by grace of diplomats or threat of war lords, but by the unwavering will of the British people to do justice and compel peace.—Estevan Mercury.

Discretion

Hon. Ernest Lapointe, long regarded as one of Canada's most capable parliamentarians and the shrewdest of diplomats, by his repudiation of Dr. Riddell's motion at the Geneva Conference to impose oil sanctions against Italy has saved Canada from a most humiliating situation. Mr. Lapointe's astute action brought down on his head the wrath of several newspapers imperially inclined which have since relapsed into ignominious silence.—Milverton Sun.

Education

Education should be made to do three things—entertain a new idea, entertain a stranger and entertain ourselves. To entertain a new idea is tolerance, to entertain a stranger is to nourish and keep alive our partnership with human beings and to entertain ourselves means the end of boredom, the end of dependence on eternal bridge and lectures, or aimless talk.—Principal Upper Canada College.

Chronic Squawking

We realize that honest criticism is a good thing for an institution, and any healthy organization welcomes it, but the inveterate squawker is not a good criticiser, he's usually a crank, with a grudge. Other examples of the same species cost their pet peeves against their municipal government, their town council, their school, church and any movement of any description which is started by well-meaning individuals and in the end, never constructs, but always "deconstructs." Do not be a squawker.—Collingwood Enterprise.

England Loves Its Lords

Lord Byron, the famous English poet, once said of his friend, Thomas Moore, the Irish poet who liked hobnobbing with nobility, that "Tommy Moore dearly loved a lord." The English people are noted for their love of pageantry and notwithstanding the uprising of labor they still pay obeisance to those wearing titles. In the new House of Commons of the government's 428 supporters 209 of them have "handles" to their names. The plain "misters" according to the Manchester Guardian may almost claim a distinction.

Demands will be made by a large delegation soon after the session of the Alberta house opens on Feb. 6 for payment of the $25 dividend which it is felt, was promised by Premier Abernethy during the provincial election campaign, says A. S. Shandro, organizer for the Alberta Basic Dividend Association. "We are preparing to organize locals all over the province to carry on the work," says Mr. Shandro.

REDUCTION OF OUR LEGISLATURE

Viewpoint of Lethbridge Herald Corresponds With Opinion of Large Portion of Press

Expressing in a general way the views of many other papers, includes this to say on a reduction of legging the Lethbridge Herald is representative:

"Mr. Lymburn, Alberta's former Attorney General, is suggesting that the Alberta legislature is too large and should be reduced to a size of from forty to twenty. It is encouraging to find that a former member of the U.F.A. government has become converted to this idea. It is unfortunate, however, that he did not use his influence with the government of which he was a member to bring about the change when it had control of affairs in Alberta. He cannot excuse himself by saying that there was no sentiment favorable to such action. For some years there had been a discussion in the newspapers along this very line.

"Mr. Hoadley was about the only member of the old government that was frank enough to declare himself in favor of reducing the membership of the legislature while the U.F.A. government was in power. Had Mr. Lymburn associated himself with Mr. Hoadley and the two of them taken the lead in advocating the change, the Herald is quite satisfied that it could have been brought about. A reduction in the size of the legislature is not a question wholly of economy. It is true that it would mean a saving of money in the payment of indemnities. Apart from that, however, we believe a smaller legislature would conduct business much more expeditiously and with less waste of time. If seventeen members are sufficient to represent Alberta at Ottawa, surely thirty-four can handle the province's business at Edmonton. Fixing the basis of representation at two members for each federal constituency appeals to us as sound. Only one or two of our federal seats cover large areas. Athabasca, Peace River and Jasper-Edson. The others are compact constituencies. In some of them it would be possible for even one provincial member to look after their interests. Since Mr. Abernethy is searching about for means of economizing on the expenditure of public moneys he could very well attack the basis of representation in the legislature."

IS TEN MILLION

Consumers of gasoline in Alberta and Saskatchewan paid approximately $10,000,000 for Turner Valley products in 1935, according to figures released to the Calgary Herald.

Total deliveries to Imperial and Bell refineries in Calgary from Turner Valley during the past year were 968,528 barrels, or 33,894,480 gallons. The average price at which this oil was marketed to the consumer, included the government tax, was 30 cents a gallon.

The 1935 deliveries of 968,528 barrels were slightly lower than in 1934 when 1,019,966 barrels were received by the two Calgary refineries. Last year's deliveries, however, greatly exceeded the 1933 figure of 739,069 barrels and the 1932 figure of 693,394 barrels.

Actual production of naphtha and crude oil in Turner Valley in 1935 was considerably in excess of the delivery figures, the difference being made up by deliveries to smaller refineries than Imperial and Bell, sales at the field and storage tank losses. Official production figures for 1935 will be available at the end of the present month.

The December deliveries to Imperial amounted to 77,747 barrels made up of 6,890 barrels of crude naphtha, 68,640 barrels of discolored crude naphtha and 2,217 barrels of crude oil. Deliveries to the Bell refinery in December were 9,608 barrels made up of production received from the Model, Spooner, Highwood-Sarcee and Mar-Jon wells.

Following is the deliveries record (in barrels) month by month during 1935:

January	80,735
February	77,492
March	80,957
April	73,013
May	79,481

banners bearing the legend "Mussolini Never Errs." He does, of course. He erred in thinking he had scored. The shake-up over which he jubilated was caused by resentment over the terms of that offer. The whole outside world looked upon them as rewarding the aggressor and penalizing the victim. After this, Britain and France cannot be accused of harshness. If they erred it was on the side of generosity, toward Italy and injustice toward Ethiopia.

No wonder Sir Samuel Hoare was nervous. There were the British ships in the Mediterranean. Some one has said that their presence from the start made only two nations nervous—Britain and Italy. With all the good will in the world, French support was uncertain as its government's tenure. A heavy volume of public opinion in France is pro-Italian and some influential journals in France were more censorious of Britain's attitude than the Italian journals. They did not like Britain's attitude toward Germany and they circulated a foolish story that her antipathy to Fascism was bred in Masonic lodges.

Those who find fault with Pope Pius for failure to preserve the peace for which he prays in the country in which he lives, fail to appreciate that he has no more influence in affairs of state there than King Humbert has. He has done everything possible within his power to prevent hostilities, but the Dictator of Italy now can defy or appease the Pope just as a dictator of France used to do a century and a half ago. Kings and Emperors are no longer disturbers of the peace. That vote is taken now by upstarts who have become despots.

"The war which we have started in Africa," said Mussolini in a recent speech, "is one for civilization." Give the bird credit—he does not pretend that it was a war of defence as the ex-Kaiser did in 1914. Italy as one of the saviours of civilization then should not now have to start another war to save it again. Although it must be admitted that civilization has been back-sliding since it has been saved, yet poor Ethiopia was hardly responsible.

An Italian newspaper asserts that the enemy has avoided defeat merely by avoiding a battle. That we think is the very best sort of strategy. It averts casualties. If it is only putting off the evil day, as some will say, we ask, as some one else has asked before, what better can an evil day do than postpone itself indefinitely? By avoiding battle, the Russians vanquished Bonaparte's grand army. General January (or was it General February?) took command and the invasion was over. If the Ethiopians can delay for some time longer, General Jupiter Pluvius may perform a similar feat for them.

When you hear a speaker say "I hold no brief for them" depend upon it he is going to defend them for nothing.

There is a chance that Alfred E. Smith will be a Presidential candidate. If we had a vote Al. would get it against all comers.

Some newspapers blame Lindbergh for his churlishness in avoiding the minions of the press, but for one man who seeks seclusion and obscurity there are thousands who court attention. Why cannot the minions be content with them and leave the one alone who craves nothing from them but to be left alone.

A Republican candidate who had espoused the Townsend plan was elected in a Michigan district recently. Leaders of both parties now fear their candidates may be tempted to espouse the same plan because of its vote-getting possibilities, and so they are urging that he would have been elected anyway because it is a normally Republican district. The Townsend plan promises a revolving pension of $2400 a year to everyone over sixty. By the time the presidential elections come on in November 1936 its allurements may depend to some extent in the Alberta experiment in Social Credit.

Hon. W. D. Euler has declared that there is no fixity in most of the tariffs set under the new reciprocity treaty with the United States and has intimated that at the next session of parliament the duty on furniture which was reduced from 45 to 27 per cent will be "adjusted." One of the arguments used against commercial treaties with our neighbors was the ease with which they could change any tariff that did not further their interests. If Canada starts adjusting the new tariffs, the life of the treaty promises to be a brief and hequered one.

"Dick" Ritchie, K.C. and crown attorney for Ottawa, who died a few weeks ago, was a philosopher. Born New Brunswick Liberal, he remained constant, as bachelors are wont to, but in a detached way he viewed the petty squabbles of politicians with judicial calm and poise. He had just said that young chaps are naturally radical, at middle age they become liberal; at old age conservative. Increasing intelligence" remarked a hard-boiled Tory. "No, no, no," replied Dick, "decreasing vitality."

Commenting on the Lindbergh's change of residence, several U. S. journals state that their son Jon is a safe in the United States as he will be in England, because any kidnappers can get him there just as easily as in the United States. The Lindberghs are, however, trying to escape the pursuit of reporters and cameramen as well as kidnappers. They are seeing a country where it took so long to find the culprit and so long to convict him. He is still living, and a late governor is making extraordinary efforts to save him from the electric chair.

Before and during the election campaign there were some things about social Credit that Mr. Aberhart did not make clear but there was one thing he made clear enough, in that a Basic Dividends would be paid for eighteen months. Those who clamor for them now are unreasonable and he has a right to be annoyed by their confounded impatience. No one expects Santa Claus to commence doing his stuff in January or February. He is not, will not, and no one blames him for he has made it plain that he does not start handing out his gifts until late in December. Why then treat Mr. Aberhart differently. It is the price he pays for becoming Prime Minister, but it is not a Just Price.

Presentation Made to Premier Aberhart by Unemployed of Edmonton

Gift of a 12-foot fountain pen labelled "in answer to prayers of the people of Alberta," made to Premier Aberhart last Tuesday by members of Edmonton's single and married unemployed, was awakening comment of the general public Friday, but Hon. J. W. Huggill, attorney-general, declined to make any statement.

A trio of carriers, headed by a red-uniformed Santa Claus, paraded to the legislative buildings with the gigantic gift, depositing it on the steps of the buildings. The card addressed to the premier indicated that signing of the basic dividends with the big pen might hasten the issue in this province. Made out of stovepipe and cardboard, the pen was complete in every detail.—Lethbridge Herald.

MEMORY OF 1935

The Morning Albertan submits a number of questions, as a test of the average memory on events of the year 1935. A good many of these questions deal with speed records made, distances here and there, and statistics that are difficult to carry in mind. But many of the questions touch on events which were of the greatest importance at the moment. What lasting impression did they make,

Here are a few of the questions. Can you answer them?

What former Germany territory voted in plebiscite to return to the fatherland?

What "perfect marriage" movie couple was divorced in California?

Did the U.S. Senate vote for or against World Court adherence?

What great American dirigible was wrecked and where?

What Asiatic king abdicated?

Who is the new governor-general of Canada?

What "easy money" scheme swept Canada in the spring?

Who was named Premier of Alberta?

What U.S. Senator was killed in a plane crash?

What famous dictator, Great War hero, died in Warsaw?

Who was the British Foreign Secretary who resigned?

What mammoth new liner set a speed mark in crossing the Atlantic?

Who won the world heavyweight boxing title and who lost it?

Who were the two brothers who set a world air endurance record?

Who is premier of France?

What king celebrated the 25th year of his reign?

What two famous men died in an Alaskan air crash?

Where did a hurricane kill more than 300 Great War veterans?

What European queen was killed in an auto accident?

What was the name of Huey Long's assassin?

Who is generally said to be Hitler's right-hand man?

Name the new prime minister of England.

Who was named Canadian prime minister for the third time?

What deposed European king returned to his throne?

What U.S. senator famed as a liberal, announced he would retire at the end of his term?

What noted evangelist died?

Who was the ace flier who vanished on an England-Australia flight?

What height did Stevens and Anderson attain on their stratosphere hop?

What is the name of the holy city of Ethiopia captured by the Italians?

What noted "exile" returned to New York?

Who were the two great English Great War commanders who died?

Col. Lindbergh is looking for a home in the old country.

We asked a man who had discussed the Reciprocity Treaty for hours just what he thought of it all. Here was his answer: "Reading the treaty and discussing it with a lot of people reminds me of a sign I once saw in front of a church. It read: 'The Rev. J. Brown will preach here next Sunday, subject: Have we learned the lesson of the great depression?' Mrs. Jones will sing 'Search Me, Oh God'."—Windsor Star.
